BOUNDARY-CROSSING, FORGING CONNECTIONS, and BUILDING SCHOLARLY COMMUNITY

The Corridor is driven by Working Groups formed by scholars from across Corridor institutions to collaborate on a particular project/topic/concern. Groups may apply for seed funds to host academic year activities (colloquia, performances, screenings, writing groups, teaching exchanges, workshops).

Working Groups are situated in one of several Research Clusters, to help map our diverse network: Archives & Media (AM); Digital Humanities (DH); Historical Studies (HS); Humanities Futures (HF); Inequality & Social Difference (ISD); Linguistics (LIN); Literature, Language & Culture (LLC); Musicology/Performance Studies (MP); Philosophy/Critical Theory (PCT); Visual Arts & Culture (VAC).

Working Group Activities take many forms, and the possibilities are endless—from a deep dive into a discipline to broad interdisciplinary queries, from convening to develop manuscripts, explore humanities methods or pedagogies, or reflect on the future of the humanities to advancing community engagement or examining how the humanities can help solve pressing social issues.

HOW WORKING GROUPS “Work”

- ◆ WG Organizers are faculty/academic staff from Corridor institutions—and at least one Organizer must be from Cornell University, Syracuse University, or the University of Rochester. Organizers form groups and coordinate WG activities. You can belong to (or organize) more than one group.
- ◆ Each WG Activity has an Organizer involved from the host campus where that activity takes place.
- ◆ All groups and activities involve members from Corridor institutions in two or more locales/cities.
- ◆ Once established, Working Groups may apply for higher funding levels to support their activities. They may also propose high-impact Signature Events (e.g., conferences, exhibits, performances), which have a public component and actively involve WG members from three or more Corridor institutions (up to 10k award, funding availability varies annually).
- ◆ An Intra-Corridor Travel Supplement helps bring together WG members from different Corridor campuses and helps faculty/academic staff/graduate students attend Corridor activities (workshops, symposia, lectures, etc.) at other Corridor institutions. Guidelines are on our website.

GET INVOLVED!

- ◆ All are welcome to attend public Corridor activities (lectures, performances, conferences, exhibits).
- ◆ To inquire about an existing Working Group, contact the WG Organizers directly.
- ◆ Interested in applying for funding? OCT 15th and MAR 15th are the 2019-2020 deadlines.
